PROBLEM STATEMENTS

1. Ensuring security of women without compromising their empowerment

Everyday, in the news we come across incidents about the various discrimination against women. In this era of equality, its high time we fight back against these evils. Here Ibeto gives you a chance to be the protector of your mother, sister and friends. Bring out your idea for the protection of women by not compromising her freedom.

2. Integrating the differentially abled into society.

People with disability are also human beings and have the same fundamental rights as other citizens of the country to enjoy the right to a decent life, as normal as possible. They have the same civil and political rights and are entitled to the measures designed to become self reliant as possible. Being responsible citizens, it is our duty to bring up these people to a life away from the hardships caused by their disability. Enlighten us with your ideas for the betterment and ease of living of differentially abled.

3. Providing cheap and quality urban amenities to rural areas.

A country attains prosperity only when all the people enjoy the same standard of living and development. It is the duty of efficient engineers to equip the rural population to attain such urban standards. Urban amenities should reach rural areas without compromising quality. It is time that we helped rural folk towards a brighter future.

4. Combating environmental degradation and energy conservation.

Unwarranted development is mostly regarded as the factor that destroys environment and nature. As engineers, we have to push forth the idea of sustainable development and implement it for environmental protection and energy conservation. One simple idea today can bring a greener tomorrow.

5. Improving general health care of the common man.

He who is well has half won the battle. This old proverb remind us about the necessity of healthcare. Living in a generation which gives good consideration to health care, new researches and ideas have to bloom up in general health care field. Every individual should be able to access good health care facility without too much expenditure. Bring out your ideas and views to improve the health care sector of our country.

6. Cost effective aiding in increasing agricultural yield and productivity

India is an agricultural nation that is famous for its greenery and various flavors. But the recent trend in our agricultural sector is the declination in productivity . The main reason for this is the increase in the expenditure to ensure quality produce. It is important to introduce cost effective innovations in agricultural sector to improve our economy. Connect the two ends of science and agriculture to bring about innovative changes and boost the Indian society!
